Response to your Request

The response provided below is correct as of 29 March 2019

Suffolk Constabulary has considered your request for information and the response is below.

Gender hate crime is not a strand of hate crime recognised as defined by the Crown Prosecution Service <https://www.cps.gov.uk/hate-crime>. Such offences would therefore not be recorded as hate crimes, rather should an individual report such an incident to the Constabulary, it is likely that any offence arising from the report would be recorded under any number of offence categories. There is no means to establish the number of offences recorded that concern an individual's gender, without manually reviewing each and every offence recorded to extract those that are relevant to the request.

Such research would take a substantial amount of time and would certainly be well in excess of the time limitations of the Act.

In relation to your request for information and in accordance with Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA), this response serves as a formal notification of refusal for your request. Suffolk Constabulary does not hold, for the purposes of FOIA, the information you require in a retrievable format.

It is estimated that to attempt to retrieve all of the information you require would take a considerable amount of retrieval time, which would exceed 18 hours. This would exceed the appropriate limit for dealing with Freedom of Information requests, in terms of costs and therefore Section 12(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 applies.

Section 12(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 states that a Public Authority is not obliged to: "...comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit." The Freedom of Information (Appropriate Limit and Fees) Regulations, defines the 'appropriate limit' for the Suffolk Constabulary as £450 and specifies that this sum equates to 18 hours work at a standard rate of £25 per hour.

In accordance with Section 17(5) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000, this letter serves as a refusal notice for this part of your request.

By requesting all information your request is too broad to be complied with within the £450 limit imposed on Freedom of Information requests.

Although excess cost removes the Force's obligations under the Freedom of Information Act, as a gesture of goodwill, I have supplied information, relative to your request, retrieved or available before it was realised that the fees limit would be exceeded. I trust this is helpful, but it does not affect our legal right to rely on the fees regulations for the remainder of your request.

The Constabulary does not hold specific budgets or expenditure relating to hate crime or burglary, such expenditure would be embedded within usual policing departmental budgets and would not be information that is held in its own right.

The total number of burglary offences recorded for the 2014 – 2018 calendar years is provided on the attached spreadsheet, including the relevant outcome.

Police forces in the United Kingdom are routinely required to provide crime statistics to government bodies and the recording criteria is set nationally. However, the systems used for recording these figures are not generic, nor are the procedures used locally in capturing the crime data. It should be noted that for these reasons this force's response to your questions should not be used for comparison purposes with any other response you may receive.

Should you have any further queries concerning this request, please contact Clair Pack, FOI Decision Maker, quoting the reference number shown above.
