

Freedom of Information Request Reference N^o: FOI 001421-19

I write in connection with your request for information received by Suffolk and Norfolk Constabularies on 12 April 2019 which you sought access to the following information:

“Vehicles that have been stolen in Norfolk and Suffolk since January 2016, broken down by month if possible.

a. Please could you include type of vehicle (e.g. Ford Fiesta) and town/city it was stolen.”

Response to your Request

The response provided below is correct as of 24 April 2019

Suffolk and Norfolk Constabularies have considered your request for information and the response is below.

Information concerning vehicle make and models is not information that is recorded within a searchable field on the crime system. The data may be recorded within the crime text or other associated documentation, but the only way to extract the data would be to manually review each offence.

Considering there are over 2000 offences recorded across both Constabularies for the time frame requested, it is anticipated such a search would take in excess of 100 hours.

In relation to your request for information and in accordance with Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA), this response serves as a formal notification of refusal for your request. The Constabularies do not hold, for the purposes of FOIA, all of the information you require in a retrievable format.

It is estimated that to attempt to retrieve all of the information you require would take a considerable amount of retrieval time, exceeding the appropriate limit for dealing with Freedom of Information requests in terms of costs and therefore, Section 12(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 applies.

Section 12(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 states that a Public Authority is not obliged to: “...comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit.” The Freedom of Information (Appropriate Limit and Fees) Regulations, defines the ‘appropriate limit’ for the Constabularies as £450 and specifies that this sum equates to 18 hours work per force at a standard rate of £25 per hour. This equates to 36 hours of work, or £900, for joint responses.

In accordance with Section 17(5) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000, this letter serves as a refusal notice for this part of your request.

By requesting all information your request is too broad to be complied with within the limit imposed on Freedom of Information requests.

Although excess cost removes the Force’s obligations under the Freedom of Information Act, as a gesture of goodwill, I have supplied information, relative to your request, retrieved or available before it was realised that the fees limit would be exceeded. I trust this is helpful, but it does not affect our legal right to rely on the fees regulations for the remainder of your request.

A search has been completed of the Constabularies crime system for all vehicle theft offences recorded during the 2016 – 2019 calendar years (up to 31 March 2019).

The table provided on the attached spreadsheet confirms the offence, month and year of each vehicle theft offence recorded, broken down by force.

Police forces in the United Kingdom are routinely required to provide crime statistics to government bodies and the recording criteria is set nationally. However, the systems used for recording these figures are not generic, nor are the procedures used locally in capturing the crime data. It should be noted that for these reasons this force's response to your questions should not be used for comparison purposes with any other response you may receive.

Should you have any further queries concerning this request, please contact Clair Pack, FOI Decision Maker, quoting the reference number shown above.
