

Freedom of Information Request Reference N^o: FOI 001893-18

I write in connection with your request for information received by Norfolk and Suffolk Constabularies on the 31 May 2018 in which you sought access to the following information:

1. "For 2017

- a. A monthly break down for the number of reported rape cases reported to your police force
- b. The wait time for sexual assault forensic exams"

Response to your Request

The response provided below is correct as of 31 May 2018

Norfolk and Suffolk Constabularies have considered your request for information and our response is below.

In relation to your request for information and in accordance with Section 17 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA), this response serves as a formal notification of refusal for your request. The Constabularies do not hold, for the purposes of FOIA, all of the information you require in a retrievable format.

It is estimated that to attempt to retrieve all of the information you require would take a considerable amount of retrieval time, exceeding the appropriate limit for dealing with Freedom of Information requests in terms of costs and therefore, Section 12(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 applies. It is considered that to provide an answer to your request will take in excess of 36 hours to provide the information.

In relation to part 1.b, the constabularies' joint forensics' system does not readily report the wait time for sexual assault forensic examinations. To ascertain this data would require us to review each case separately to see if there had been a forensic element and then review the documentation to calculate the difference between submission dates and the date statements had been received. Based on an average of 10 minutes per case, and considering for Suffolk alone there was 766 reported rape cases in 2017 this would way exceed the statutory time restraints of the FOI ACT.

Whilst we do not actively record the time to wait for an examination, it should be noted that we do utilise a framework contract for all external forensic analysis with the contract having set turnaround times for submitted work.

Section 12(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 states that a Public Authority is not obliged to: "...comply with a request for information if the authority estimates that the cost of complying with the request would exceed the appropriate limit." The Freedom of Information (Appropriate Limit and Fees) Regulations, defines the 'appropriate limit' for the Constabularies as £450 and specifies that this sum equates to 18 hours work per force at a standard rate of £25 per hour. This equates to 36 hours of work, or £900, for joint responses.

In accordance with Section 17(5) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000, this letter serves as a refusal notice for this part of your request.

By requesting all information your request is too broad to be complied with within the limit imposed on Freedom of Information requests.

Although excess cost removes the Force's obligations under the Freedom of Information Act, as a gesture of goodwill, I have supplied information, relative to your request, retrieved or available before it was realised that the fees limit would be exceeded. I trust this is helpful, but it does not affect our legal right to rely on the fees regulations for the remainder of your request.

A search has been carried out within the force's crime management system for all offences under the Home Office category of rape.

The below table provides a monthly breakdown for the number of reported rapes cases in the 2017 calendar year:

	Norfolk	Suffolk
January	64	57
February	47	52
March	79	70
April	51	64
May	84	64
June	80	66
July	68	89
August	71	63
September	71	72
October	67	42
November	82	57
December	76	70
Total	840	766
