Making the community safer

Mobile technology

All Frontline Officers (Sgts and PCs) in Suffolk Constabulary have been equipped with a Samsung tablet and Nokia mobile phone to revolutionise the way they deal with incidents and the service they provide to the public. The tablets will enable officers to work remotely, update crime systems, review live incidents, update victims and liaise with partner agencies on-the-go, eliminating the need to return to the police stations. This technology will allow officers to remain deployable and visible. In addition to tablets, body-worn video cameras have also been distributed to Frontline Officers. Both these technology advancements will allow officers to work more effectively and offer them the support they need to protect the public and bring offenders to justice. Whilst the outlay costs were budgeted at £1.2m to equip the officers with these devices, it is expected that the efficiencies brought by their deployment will save the constabulary money in the long-term.

Scams - Claiming to be someone they're not

A common scam is when you receive a call from someone claiming to be from a company such as "Microsoft" or "BT". In this situation, the caller may claim there's an issue with your computer, for example, and will ask you to go to a website and download some virus protection software. Companies like Microsoft would not contact you in this way and if you receive a call similar to this hang up. If you have an issue, call the company directly, from a telephone number of existing paperwork / their webpage. Similar if individuals call reporting to be from your Bank or the Police. We will never ask for bank details, including PIN number, over the telephone.
